

Deserts of the World

Year 3 – Spring 2–2025

What's it all about?

This amazing topic will transport the children around the world learning about what deserts are, where they are found and how they came to be.

Scientists: This half term we will be exploring light.

Readers: Using Destination Reader, we will continue being super readers by revisiting the different aspects of reading: questioning, clarifying, inferring, predicting, evaluating, summarising and making connections.

Spellers: Our spelling patterns for this half term will include learning: the suffix ly, ure, tion

Writers: We will be reading Iron Man by Ted Hughes. Using this book, we will write diary entries, news reports and poems.

Mathematicians: The maths topics this half-term are: statistics, length and perimeter and fractions.

Geographers: We will be studying deserts, looking at how they are formed, where they are in the world and who lives in them.

PE: In PE we are going to be developing our communication skills further by participating in a variety of team work activities. Our physical focus will be linking movements together to form routines.

DT: We will be designing and making our own pop up books using different types of levers.

Musicians: We will be learning about folk songs, particularly sea shanties.

RE: We will learn about how new life is celebrated by Humanists (non-religious groups)

Life Skills: In Life Skills this half-term, we will explore our rights and responsibilities, focusing on money.

French: We will finish our learning on numbers and colours, before moving on to transport

Computing: We will be learning about branching databases and simulations

Family Learning Ideas: Explore David Attenborough documentaries on deserts; research animals that live in the deserts and how they are adapted to live there; create art with sand for texture

Value of the half-term: responsibility

Trips/Workshops: We will be preparing for our Spring Celebration which we look forward to welcoming you to on the 24th March at 2.30pm. We also have a Humanist visitor coming in to enrich our RE topic.
